

Green Anole

Coloring Instructions: This is a male anole. Color his throat pouch red. Color his chin and belly white. Color the rest of the anole bright green. OR color the rest of the anole light brown, since they can change from green to brown to help them camouflage or blend into their environment.

Interesting Fact: The Green Anole is native to NE Florida. Over the past several years, the Cuban Brown Anole has invaded Florida and is causing a decrease in the number of native Green Anoles. These two different kinds of anoles compete for food resources and territories. You can tell it's a Brown Anole if it has a very dark stripe down the middle of its back.
